Laura: I am not so sure on how I can get a hold of this IT consulting firm. Maybe I should keep an eye on how I can get information on contacting them.

Laura: I'm excited to find out

Laura: I don't know which mode of contact would give efficient response time.

Laura: I've sent an email, but it has not gotten a response, let me give them a call.

Laura: I'm disappointed that I had to spend over 45 minutes calling their phone line before it got picked

Laura: So, I have to wait 3 weeks to get my complaint resolved. It is not fair

Kim: We are having an overload of task to work on. We sure need to automate our system urgently.

Laura: This is a terrible customer service. Might have to switch to a new service provider.

Kim: I will have to log this task to pending complaints that needs resolution.

Tim: I am swarmed with pending resolutions already. This is going to take some time before it gets treated.

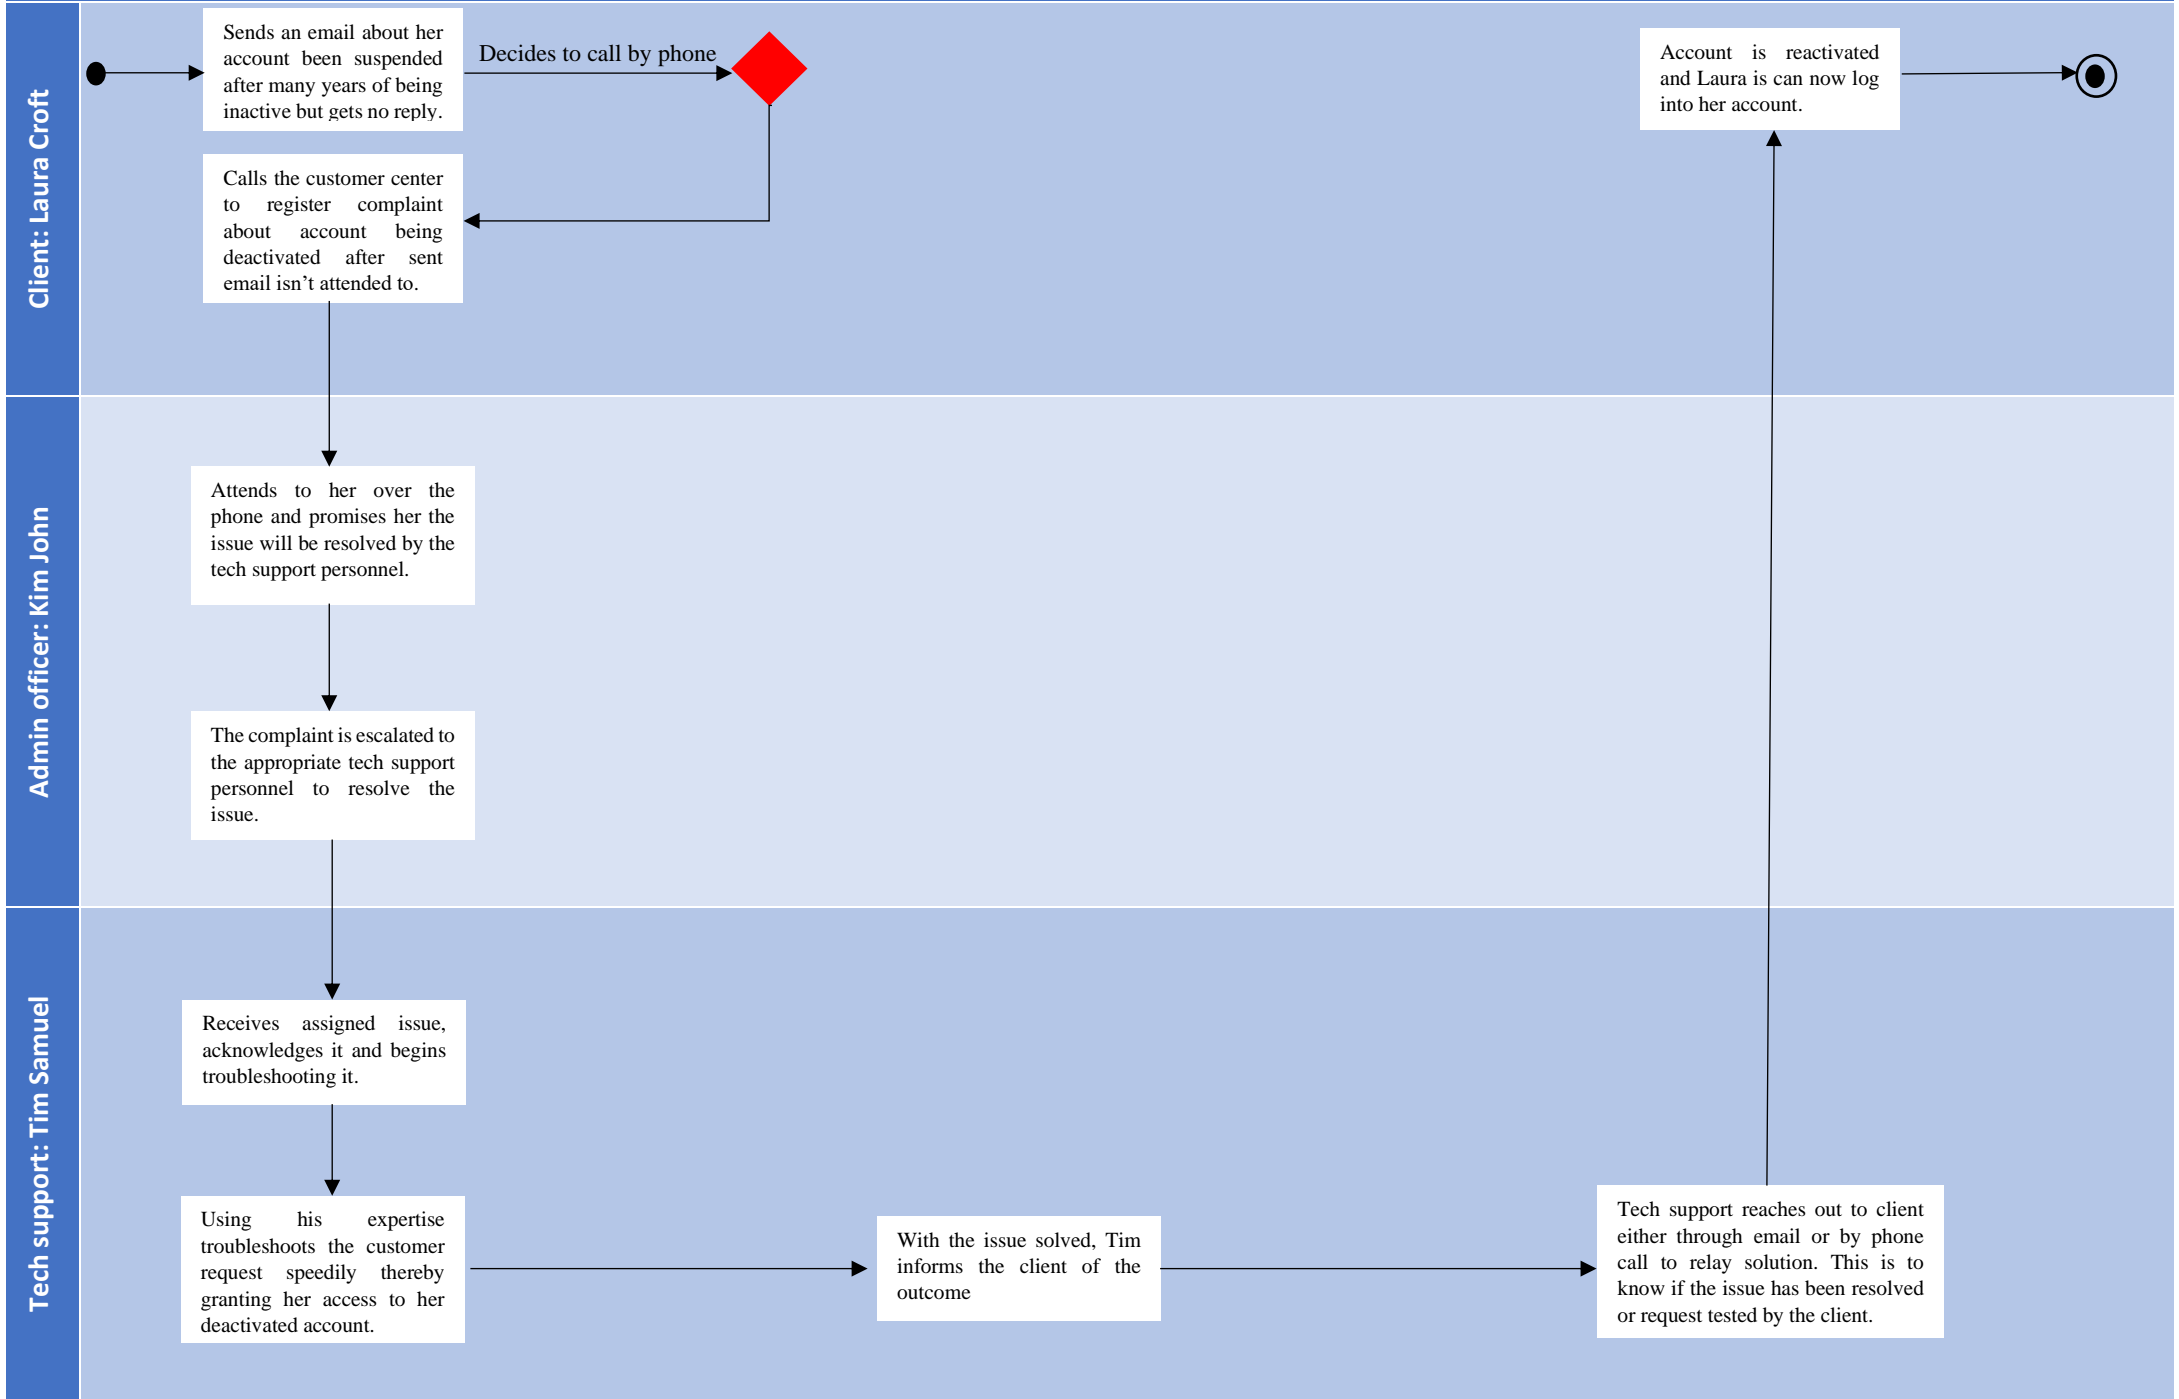

Laura: I am not happy even though the complaint is resolved. I would have done a lot of things with my account during my waiting period.

Tim: It took a handful of weeks to have this worked on.

Tim: I know the customer wont be too pleased with our service delivery.

Although my problem was resolved some weeks ahead, I'm displeased that it wasn't resolved in shorter duration.
